THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Stay Tuned: NPR Podcast

Dr. Heidi K. Gardner had great fun recording an episode of "Jazzed About Work" for NPR the other day. She and host Beverly Jones exchanged thoughts and research on how people can create resilient and rewarding careers...You'd better believe smarter collaboration got airtime! We're excited about this one, and will you know when the episode drops.

AWARDS

Thinkers50 Ranking and Distinguished Achievement Awards

Are you familiar with the Thinkers50 (T50) awards? Every two years, the UK-based organization recognizes the leading business and management ideas of today with its ranking of thinkers and distinguished achievement awards.

Known as "the Oscars of management thinking," these accolades acknowledge outstanding contributions in this sphere.

Well...This isn't normal for us, but if you're reading the newsletter we hope it means you appreciate the smarter collaboration thought leadership.

Nominations are now open: would you consider nominating Dr. Heidi K. Gardner for these awards?

As Dr. Gardner seeks T50 recognition, it's vital to get a groundswell of business leaders to submit their endorsements on her behalf. She recognizes that putting forth a nomination is a big favor, not only because your time is so valuable but also because - for the first time this year - T50 requires a £50 fee (including VAT) to do so. That said, Dr. Gardner hopes you would see this investment as a way to spread the smarter collaboration ideas you've already recognized as important and high-impact.

Would you please let Dr. Gardner know if you're willing to proceed (by responding to this email)? We can then give you details to make the process as easy as possible. Thank you so much in advance, and a special thanks to those who have supported her so far! (By the way, the deadline is July 30.)

LOOKING AHEAD

Tanning and Planning

It's a short newsletter this month: we know many of you are off taking a well deserved break (or prepping to do so). Our team is capitalizing on the calmer summer months to tackle some strategic projects - we can't wait to share our new ideas with you come fall!
